

BRAILLISTS: INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIAL SPECIALISTS

Contact your regional education service center (ESC) for information and resources on recruiting and training for brailleists / material specialists.

A cost effective way to increase the efficiency of your VI program

Brailleists: Instructional Material Specialists

Adapt materials to be used by students with visual impairments at the same time as their peers to ensure compliance and support successful results for high-stakes testing.

Produce materials in alternative formats (e.g. enlarged print and/or braille, recorded texts, e-books, tactile maps and graphics) in consistent and appropriate formats.

Maintain inventories for visual impairment program, including:

- Brailled materials and other tactile materials,
- Recorded and electronic files, and
- Resource files for locating alternative sources of braille and tactile materials.

Impact on District

- Cost effective: Producing materials in the district will be less expensive than purchasing them.
- Optimize instructional time: Brailleists increase the amount of time VI professionals are available for instruction.
- Increases retention: Brailleists reduce paperwork for VI professionals and demonstrate support: key factors in retention.

Excellent brailleists/instructional material specialists are:

- Independent and reliable employees from the district's non-teaching staff who are collaborative team members.
- Interested in developing new skills and are comfortable with technology.
- Detail oriented.
- Interested in expanding their professionalism.
- Trained through web-based and correspondence courses and via many ESCs.
